Writing prompt

Which do you think is easier, taking photos of people or taking photos of wildlife? Why?

Example:

I think taking photos of wildlife is easier. We can photograph them in their natural element, doing interesting things in nature. We don't have to make them pose or worry about if they will be happy with the picture that we took. They don't care how the picture looks. If we take a picture of someone and they don't like it, we might have to take it again, even if we absolutely love it.
